SkinVision

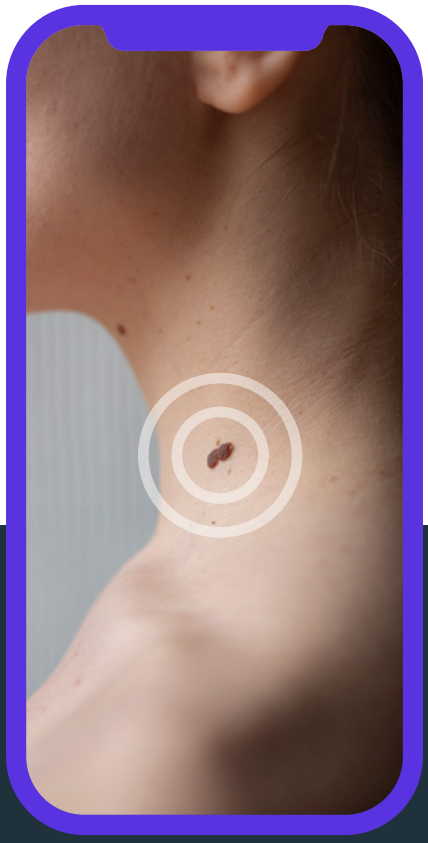
Skin cancer detector and health advisor

With a Select or Tailored Health Cash Plan from Health Shield, you can provide your people with access to the additional wellbeing service SkinVision - delivered through a smartphone app, that allows users to self-examine their skin for signs of skin cancer.



Check skin spots and moles with an app

SkinVision empowers members to manage their skin health at home. It bridges the gap between self-assessment and professional dermatological advice, guiding users on when and how to effectively care for their skin.

Powered by AI and skin health experts

SkinVision has detected nearly 50,000 skin cancer cases combining AI with skin health professionals and dermatologists. With up to 95% sensitivity in detecting common signs of skin cancer, users can track their skin over time by organising and commenting on photos.

Helping people detect skin cancer early

SkinVision is ideal for people who want to take a proactive approach to their skin health, particularly those concerned about skin cancer. Members can receive a personalised risk indication within 30 seconds.
